National Park Service

The Guide: Autumn

South Rim Maps and Information

Hello, and welcome to Grand Canyon National Park!

Visiting places like Grand Canyon offers us experiences and exposure to environments completely different from those of our everyday lives. However, having a safe and fulfilling experience when we are out of our element can pose challenges.

At Grand Canyon National Park, this Guide is a great way to get started. In it, you will find information about the services and ranger programs available in the park, as well as a map and information about how to use the free shuttle buses.

The South Rim's visitor centers and contact stations are a terrific next step. They offer opportunities to talk to park rangers and ask questions. Get an overview of what Grand Canyon is about and how best to see it at Grand Canyon Visitor Center and theater; learn about its geologic history at Yavapai Geology Museum; and explore its extensive human history at Verkamp's Visitor Center or Tusayan Museum.

Equally important to a great Grand Canyon experience is understanding how to enjoy the park safely. Fall weather in the park can be extremely variable. Dress in layers and be prepared for hot, cold, sun, rain, and even snow. In addition, keep in mind that fall is mating season for much of the park's wildlife, raising sensitivities to human intrusion. Be sure to use your zoom lens when trying to get a close up photo, and give wildlife their space as they go about the business of being wild.

I have found living and working at Grand Canyon to be an adventure, a challenge, and an unforgettable experience. It is my sincere hope that these tools will help make your Grand Canyon adventure equally unforgettable.

Thank you,

Top 5 Grand Canyon Activities

1. Get Your First Canyon View

From Grand Canyon Visitor Center, walk a short distance north to Mather Point, the classic first view of Grand Canyon. Then, walk the Rim Trail (0.7 mi/1.1 km), ride a shuttle, or drive to Yavapai Point, but be aware that the parking lot may be full. Visit Yavapai Geology Museum and use the binoculars to look for rafts on the river. See map on page 5.

2. Visit Scenic Overlooks

Explore nine stunning overlooks along the seven-mile (11 km) Hermit Road by riding the Hermits Rest Route shuttle bus (red route). Stroll between viewpoints and ride the shuttle back when you are tired. See map on pages 4–5. Drive along the 25-mile (37 km) Desert View Drive and enjoy amazing views of the Colorado River as you head east. A visit to the Desert View Watchtower is not to be missed. See map on page 8.

3. Go For a Walk or Hike

Wander the Rim Trail, learn about Grand Canyon geology along the Trail of Time, or explore the wonders of the inner canyon. Whatever you decide, taking a walk or hike will give you the opportunity to see some of the park's hidden gems. See map on pages 4–5 and information on page 6 for walks along the rim; see page 7 for advice about hiking into Grand Canyon.

4. Attend a Free Park Ranger Program

Learn about Grand Canyon from the park rangers and volunteers who know it inside and out. Hear the dynamic story of how the canyon formed or be inspired by the California condor's return to Grand Canyon. Tour Ancestral Puebloan ruins or learn about local history. Whatever your interests, you will find a program to suit you on page

5. Enjoy the Sun and Stars

Grand Canyon's clean air and expansive vistas offer the opportunity for you to watch the sun rise or set and see crystal clear night skies. Mohave, Hopi, Yavapai, and Yaki points provide grand east and west views; perfect for sunrise and sunset.

Canyon Hiking Adventures

For the more adventurous, hiking into the canyon affords an unparalleled experience. For an enjoyable hike you must prepare for extreme conditions.

Tips for an Enjoyable Hike

Plan It takes twice as long to hike up as it took to hike down.

Time Until the weather turns cool, start hikes descending into the canyon before sunrise; do not hike between 10 am and 4 pm. If hiking mid-day is your only option, consider the Rim Trail, or descend no further than 1.5 miles (2.4 km) into the canyon.

Pack Bring layers for heat, wind, rain, and cold; sunscreen, hat, flashlight, and hiking boots; food, water, map, medicine, and first aid kit.

Eat Consume salty snacks on any hike lasting longer than 30 minutes. Snack every time you drink.

Drink For every hour hiking in the canyon, drink one-half to one quart (liter) of water or sports drinks.

Rest Sit down, prop your legs up, and take a 5- to 10-minute break in the shade at least once every hour.

Danger!

Weather Inner canyon temperatures in September can soar past 100°F (38°C). The first snowstorms may come to the South Rim as early as mid-October. Always check the weather before beginning your hike.

No Day Hikes To the River Hiking to the river and back in one day is never recommended due to extreme heat, limited shade, long distances, and a near 5,000-foot (1,500 m) elevation change each way.

No Swimming The Colorado River is fast, wide, and cold (55°F / 13°C). Do not swim in the river.

Falling Rock Rocks or other objects tossed over the edge or dislodged by taking shorcuts can injure hikers and wildlife below.

Three main trails offer the chance for a variety of abilities and available time frames. Be safe, prepare your pack, and hike smart!

The Hazardous H's

Heat Exhaustion Through intense sweating, hikers can lose 1–2 quarts (liters) of water per hour resulting in dehydration. Symptoms include pale face, nausea, cool and moist skin, headache, and cramps. Have the patient drink water, eat high-energy foods, and rest in the shade.

Heat Stroke Life-threatening emergency where the body is overwhelmed and can no longer regulate its temperature Symptoms include flushed face, dry skin, weak rapid pulse, high body temperature, poor judgment, inability to cope, and unconsciousness. Find shade, cool the patient with water, and send for help.

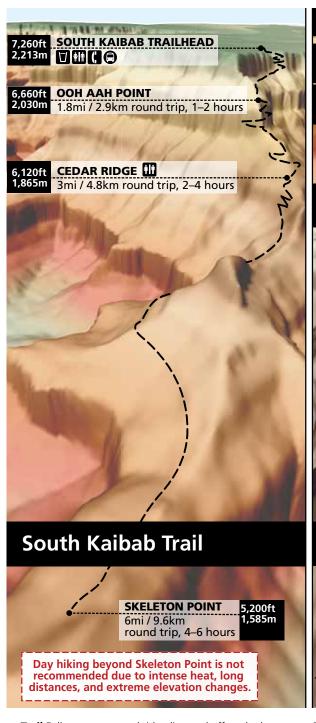

Hyponatremia Results from low sodium in the blood from drinking too much water, not eating enough salty foods, and losing salt through sweating. Symptoms include nausea, vomiting, altered mental states, and frequent urination. Have the patient rest and eat salty foods. If mental alertness decreases, seek immediate help.

Backcountry Camping

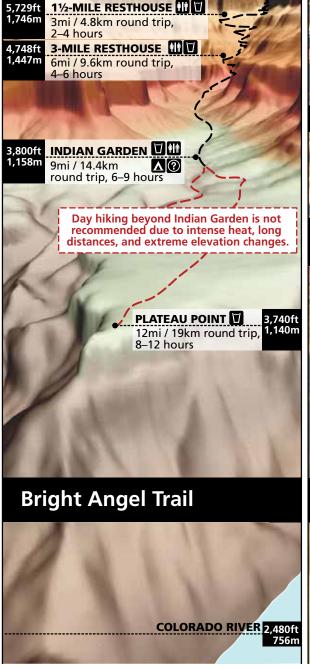

You must obtain a permit from the Backcountry Information Center to camp in the backcountry. Open daily 8 am to noon and 1–5 pm mountain standard time. For information call 928-638-7875 from 1–5 pm, Monday to Friday, or visit www.nps.gov/grca/planyourvisit/backcountry.htm.

A limited number of last minute walk-up permits are available for Indian Garden, Bright Angel, and Cottonwood campgrounds. These permits are only issued in person for one or two consecutive nights and cannot be purchased more than one day prior to the start of a hike.

Staying Safe at Grand Canyon

Where Can I Find Free Water?

In an effort to reduce litter along park trails, plastics in the waste stream, and greenhouse gas emissions, and as part of a reusable water bottle program, Grand Canyon National Park has eliminated the sale of water packaged in individual disposable containersincluding plastic and glass bottles.

Bring or buy a reusable water bottle and fill it up for free. You can purchase reusable, souvenir water bottles at park retailers and fill them at the following locations:

Bright Angel Lodge Bright Angel Trailhead—under construction Canyon Village Market Desert View Market Desert View Visitor Center El Toyar Hotel Grand Canyon Visitor Center Hermits Rest Maswik Lodge South Kaibab Trailhead Verkamp's Visitor Center

Yavapai Geology Museum

Yavapai Lodge Cafeteria

What Do I Need to Know About Weather and Elevation?

Autumn weather varies greatly and can change suddenly. Be prepared with layered clothing for heat, rain, wind or snow. Please slow down and drive carefully in inclement weather.

At 7,000 feet (2,135 m) elevation, you may feel short of breath, nauseous, or tire easily. Direct sun can cause dehydration and sunburn. Use sunblock and drink plenty of free Grand Canyon spring water.

How Can I Keep Wildlife Wild? Never approach or feed any animal; it is illegal to do so.

Deer and elk can be especially aggressive in fall and will defend their territory. Stay at least 100 feet (30 m), or about six car lengths, away from larger animals.

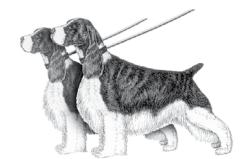

Do not feed the squirrels; they will bite and can carry plague. People can get plague from being bitten by an infected flea or by handling an infected animal.

It is tempting to want to get close to animals, but remember they are not pets. Wild animals need space and respect. Please do your part to keep the park's wildlife wild.

How Can I View Grand Canyon Safely?

Stay at least 6 feet (2 m) from the edge and hold on to children. Always be aware of your surroundings. Do not back up without first looking where you are going. Never throw anything over

Where Can I Take My Pet?

Leashed pets are allowed on rim trails in the South Rim developed area, but not below the rim, in buildings, or on shuttle buses. The only exception is service animals. Persons wishing to take a service animal below the rim must check in first at the Backcountry Information Center. See page 6 for kennel information.
